McGILL PRESENTS
FIRST BROADCAST

'UNIVERSITY HOUR'

Nation-wide Hook-up of C.B.M.
Features Student Talent

FROM 3 TO 4 O'CLOCK

McGill and Macdonald Revues, Glee Clubs, Daily and Players Participate

TODAY McGill will attempt to illustrate for the Canadian radio audience several phases of university life, from college glee clubs to college history, on a nation-wide hook-up of the C.B.C. and four short-wave stations. This program, from 3 to 4 this afternoon over station CBM, is the first in a series featuring the leading universities of Canada, since the one scheduled to be first, by Dalhousie University, has been cancelled. John Pratt, McGill, will act as Master of Ceremonies. Special loud speakers are being installed in the Engineering Building to allow the Engineers in the Building at the time to hear the program.

GLEE CLUB START.

The combined Glee Clubs will open the program by singing again the song which was such a success recently at the R.V.C. Glee Club's Concert which was assisted by the Men's—"Dear Land of Home" from "Finlandia," by the great Finnish composer, Jean Sibelius, and the "Cachucha" from Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "The Gondoliers"; the R.V.C. Glee Club will then sing alone the blithe "Shepherd's Dance" from "Henry VIII," to be followed

REHEARSAL AT 1 P.M.

All participants in the McGill Radio Show, who are scheduled to broadcast from the studios, must be ready at station CBM at 1 p.m. today. Other students, who will be heard in interviews must prepare for campus pick-ups at 1 p.m. as well.

by the Men's Club alone in "Old Man Noah."

Original songs written entirely by students, to be used in this year's "Red and White Revue," will be sung by students. Madeleine St. Martin, already well-known in Montreal for her fine performance of solos at local functions, will sing a duet, "Dreams Alone," with John Fraser; a trio of girls, Betty Gould, Phyllis Stapells, and Mary Jamison, will sing "No Substitute For Love," by Iris Armstrong and Top Emery, and "Please Come Through With Love," "Theatre Night," a monologue, will be presented by Barbara Whitley.

DESCRIBE "DAILY"

Since the Daily is an integral part of University life at McGill, it will be represented by a description of college newspaper procedure. Gerald Clark, Commentator, will introduce News Editor Arnold Isenman, Sports Editor Pete Fuller and John (Continued on Page Four).

CAMPUS COMMENTS
Special to C.U.P.

Northampton, Mass. — Educators at Smith College believe in practical education. Special courses are now being offered at the woman's school to prove that knowledge divorced from living is no longer the ideal of higher education.

Among the practical courses are: Photography for candid camera fans, horticulture for amateur gardeners, and nautical astronomy for would-be navigators. Other hobby courses offered are such unrelated subjects as gem-cutting, puppet designing and various architectural pursuits.

One of the most popular activities at Smith College is the Flying Club, numbering 40 air-minded girls. Six of the clubbers have become licensed pilots. The president of the club, Elizabeth Hooker of Baltimore, is said to have obtained her solo licence in one of the shortest times ever listed for a woman.

Atlanta, Ga.—Students at Maddox Junior High School are using salesmanship today to raise free lunches for needy schoolmates. The youngsters are spending their leisure time selling pencils to raise funds for sandwiches, fruit, and milk for needy pupils. They visit stores, homes, and filling stations. Red and White Cabaret Night To Feature Music of Reggie Childs

SATURDAY night at eleven o'clock will see the last big McGill dance of the year. As everyone knows it is the Red and White Rhythm Cabaret and this year for the first time a name band will be featured at one of our college dances. The band in question is Reggie Childs and his famous broadcasting orchestra who will hold forth at the Mount Royal Hotel immediately following the last performance of the Red and White Revue. As an added attraction, the executive has engaged "Rusty" Davis, known as musical conductor for the Revue for many years, and his band in order to have continuous dancing.

Another added attraction that has been made for the convenience of the dancers is the installation of a bar in the convention room. The convention room is situated just off the main ballroom and those who so desire may get mixed drinks there without having to go down to the Piccadilly Club. Tickets for this gala affair have

PLATFORM.

SINCE this is not an election in St. Henry Constituency, I am not going to promise that, if elected, I shall fill up the big hole on Dorchester street, nor the Campus hollow, nor can I guarantee a championship football team next fall. I only wish I could.

Therefore, I shall restrict myself to a simple statement of fact—what will be attempted, and what may be achieved. In a platform of this kind it would be futile for a candidate for the presidency of the Students' Society to make promises which it would be impossible to fulfill. Consequently this platform must necessarily be considered merely as my personal ideas on certain phases of undergraduate life that I feel merit some definite attention.

The major executive positions on the campus will be filled at the annual elections taking place today in which all undergraduates will participate. Election polls will be open from 8.45 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. The positions to which students will be elected in today's elections are as follows: President of the Students' Society, Vice-President of the McGill Union, Secretary of the McGill Union, Student Representative to the Athletic Board, Vice-President of the Debating Union, President of the Women's Union, and President of the M.W.S.A.A. All students, male and female, are eligible to vote for the President of the Students' Society. In addition, female students will vote for candidates contesting the last two positions, and men students only will vote for the remaining posts.

PLATFORM.

IN accepting nomination for the Presidency of the Women's Union I wish to thank my nominators for the confidence they have placed in me and to assure them, and others who may support me, that I will do all I can to discharge the duties of that office to the best of my ability.

I understand it is the general custom for candidates for the position of President of the Women's Union to outline reforms they would institute, and improvements they would make, if elected. I have found it is unwise to make rash promises, because matters concerning the Women's Union, as everything else, must be dealt with as they arise, with a full view to the circumstances and conditions which are involved.

I wish to say, however, that if I am entrusted to that very responsible position I shall try to fulfill it in the best interest of McGill and the students whom I represent. I shall endeavour to maintain the high standards set by the previous presidents, and I shall continue to support the policy of the Women's Union in attempting to establish its permanent headquarters in the Royal Victoria College. I would try to uphold the rights of the Women's Union on the Students' Council, and through it the views of the members of the Women's Union.

I would also give my wholehearted support next fall to the Freshman Entertainment Committee in order to see that the incoming girls are intelligently and graciously introduced to university life. I would co-operate in every possible way with all clubs, societies, and organizations that come under the jurisdiction of the Women's Union. I would at all times endeavour to be impartial and keep (Continued on Page Four).

PLATFORM.

IT has been often said that an election platform is futile because the President of the Students' Society is compelled to comply with a majority vote. Nevertheless, as Chairman of the Students' Council, the President has influence in guiding its policy and decisions, and his ideas, therefore, should be brought before the student body in his election platform.

The basis of my platform is:

(1) A Greater Co-ordination between the Students' Council and the Student Body, and

(2) A Greater Emphasis on Inter-Faculty Athletics.

In conjunction with the above I submit the following recommendations pertaining to the Students' Executive Council and the Students' Athletic Council:

PEGGY LAMB

PLATFORM.

IN the event that I am elected President of the Women's Union, I shall do my utmost to fulfill the duties of this office and to uphold the high standard set by the executive in recent years. It shall be my aim to further the objects of this Union as stated in the Constitution, namely, "to promote social and recreational interests of the women students," and "to aim at the establishment of a building...which will provide facilities for the above." To these ends I would endeavour to obtain more rooms in the R.V.C. committee and recreational, for the use of the Women's Union.

I would like to make possible a plan whereby the women students who come from a distance each morning may have lunch in the R.V.C. dining room; or, less specifically, to improve upon the lunching facilities and the present lunch room for these students.

I shall make every effort to bring the Women's Union into closer contact with the M.W.S.A.A., that women's sports may have a more prominent place on the campus, and I shall co-operate with the President of the M.W.S.A.A. to that end.

I shall co-operate fully with all clubs and societies of the Women's Union, that each may avail itself of every facility offered by the Women's Union.

I will do my best to carry out any improvements which I may see as necessary or which may be suggested by the students. I will endeavour at all times to be impartial, and to keep the interests of the women student body in mind.

Dr. Douglas Presents Shield to

DR. DOUGLAS, in congratulating the Engineers upon the success of their season of debating, said that the practice which they have received in the art of argument, will equip them to take part in the affairs of the world, and also in the home. Before presenting the Shield of the Engineering Undergraduates' Debating Committee, the Principal on his first official visit to the Engineering Building, told the "Fathers of Clementine" that did not mind (Continued on Page Four).

BRAIN MATTER IS
SAME AS THOUGHT

"PSYCHOLOGY can never be independent of philosophy," said Dr. Harrower last night in the Union before the Philosophical Society, "because the problems of psychology and philosophy are on many, fundamental questions the same." Dr. Harrower, who is working with Dr. Penfield in the Neurological Building substantiated her statement by outlining some of the different philosophical solutions to the problem of mind and body. "These theories explain the difficulties of psychologists through their work," the speaker said, "and they show the interdependence of the two fields of knowledge."

The view of Dr. Harrower was hardly challenged by the philosophers as they were carried away by some of the speculative hypothesis which she spoke of.

The explanation which isomorphism gives of the relation between the mind and body was explained at some length by the speaker and aroused considerable discussion among the audience. This theory claims that the "form" of the subjective experience is in significant (Continued on Page Four).

Revue Shows Polish After
Final Rehearsal

TICKETS SELLING FAST

Bernice Ashkanse, Barbara
Whitley, Rita Stevenson,
Stars of This Year's
Skits

TICKET sales which took a considerable jump yesterday were amply justified by the final dress rehearsal that went on the boards of Moyse Hall last night. Skits have been polished, singers rehearsed their numbers time and again, choruses have been drilled until the girls nearly collapsed, tap-dancers and solo dancers have brought their acts to the peak and minor difficulties of lighting, makeup and costuming have been ironed out, for the show opens tonight at eight-thirty.

Madeleine Saint-Martin's number, which she sings with John Fraser, the Carolina sing-bird, was cheered to the echo by the other members of the cast. The S.S.I. number was a terrific success with the stage crew and others of the company, and the Heart Beals number had the hearts of the audience beating a trip-hammer quartet that made the Anvil Chorus sound like a debutante stirring her coffee. Surprises are in store for the customers when they hear the Voyageurs number, not yet revealed through the medium of the press.

BERNICE BACK

Bernice Ashkanse is back again with the Revue, in a character role that looks like the best that she has ever done, and in addition she warbles a merry song in her well-known style, that has made her a hit in many a former show. She fills the part of Mae South, as tropical a hostess as ever ran a church social. She rescues the light-house keeper's daughter from a fate worse than death, and in the end turns out to be the real heroine. Iris Armstrong and Top Emory, two Revue stars of proven worth, collaborate in a topical number; composed by Iris herself, which gives the two singers every opportunity to display the particular type of boy and girl duet which have been so popular in the past.

Cinderella, that expert on thermodynamics and other heating problems, is portrayed by Rita Stevenson, a Players' Club star, who brings to the characterization of the winsome maid a treatment that is decidedly novel. Harriet Bloomfield, her Fairy Godmother, works many a charming charm and with the mixture of secret formulas and what sounded suspiciously like Gaelic to the inquiring reporter, she brings a coachman onto the stage, that puts the rat-coachman and his pumpkin-coach into a cocked hat.

Barbara Whitley, who will be remembered for her excellent performance in the Revue of last year is again in the show featured in a monologue role. She was one of the brighter spots of the show, and her experience in M.R.T. productions during the ensuing time has stood her in good stead.

COSTUMES GOOD.

The work of Frances Brown, who designed the costumes, is shown to good advantage in the dressing of the various choruses, and in some of the costumes of the principals. This year a Red and White chorus opens the show, and six other routines, from a refreshing winter number to a Tropical dance occupy the stage between the acts and songs.

A story, in which the joke is on Producer Doheny, is going the (Continued on Page Four).

NEW CLUB PROJECT
UNDER DISCUSSION

The inauguration of an International Relations Club on the McGill Campus will be discussed at a meeting in the Committee Room of Strathcona Hall at 5 p.m. today.

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace is at present sponsoring 827 groups of this type in various Universities and colleges throughout the world, and it is believed that such a Club is needed at McGill to promote student interest in world affairs. The essential program of the organization would be impartial study and discussion of current events at which all points of view would be welcome.

In order to benefit from its co-operation the Carnegie Endowment lays down three conditions to which the Club must agree. A member of the faculty must guarantee preservation of the books sent by the Endowment as a permanent collection. There must be complete freedom of discussion and no one point of view must be forced upon the members. The Club also undertakes to endeavour (Continued on Page Four).

Talbot Papineau Contest to Begin Friday for Debaters

THE preliminary trials for the Talbot Papineau Debate will take place tomorrow afternoon. The time scheduled for the debate is 4.15, but anyone who is unable to come until 5.00 will still be able to enter the contest. This contest, which is held in memory of Talbot Mercier Papineau, a McGill graduate and Rhodes Scholar who was killed in 1917 at the Battle of Passchendaele, is open to all men students taking any bachelor degree, or a preliminary degree in medicine. The debate will proceed along unusual lines; speakers pro and con will be chosen by lot and they will have to speak with only five minutes' notice on the subject which has been allotted to them. Ivor Williams, winner of last year's trophy, will be the first speaker for the affirmative although he is not eligible for the award. Convincing arguments, language and delivery will be important factors in the judges' decision on the two best speakers. The finals for the Talbot Papineau Trophy will take place on Wednesday, March 16, in the Union

Grill, and the subject will be announced in the Daily of Monday morning, March 14.

The debate for the Reford Challenge Cup awarded by Mrs. R. W. Reford will take place in the same evening. The object of this contest is to encourage impromptu speaking in the University. The executive of the McGill Debating Union will select four speakers and their choice will be based on the impromptu speaking heard in the semi-finals of the Talbot Papineau debate.

The subject for the Reford Challenge Cup Debate will be announced on the morning of March 16, and the contestants will be informed of the side which they are to uphold shortly before the debate commences. The decisions will be rendered by three judges Dr. Woodhead, head of the Department of Classics and Honorary President of the Debating Union, Kenneth Baker, a lawyer, and Morton Godine, vice-president of the Debating Union. Winners of each contest will receive a permanent cup.

Vote Today

TODAY the undergraduates of the University elect their main officers for next year. The platforms of all the candidates have been published in the "Daily," and their biographies have been run.

By this time the average student should, at least, know that there is an election today. This year there will be no excuse for any person to say that he does not know who is running, for today the platforms and the biographies are again being published.

In the past the percentage of students who have exercised their franchise has been extremely small. In an institution such as this where thought and intelligence predominate more people should be interested in their own management. Every student who pays the universal student fee has a direct interest in the election of the President and other officers. The two Union positions which are being contested today carry with them a large burden of responsibility and care should be used in casting a vote for these men.

The position of President of the Women's Union is another post which carries a great deal of direct responsibility and it also should receive the consideration of the electorate.

In the past there have been many students who on election day are not even conscious of the fact that an election is in progress. This year the "Daily" has run a publicity campaign to acquaint the electors with those running for the positions, their ideas of how the positions should be filled and even editorials dealing with the work and responsibilities involved.

While such a campaign may be of use to increase the number of votes cast, the responsibility of casting of the vote remains with the Student Body.

Often men and women have been elected because they have unduly come before the public owing to athletic predominance or some other college activity. Because a man is a fraternity brother is no reason to back him in an election when he is opposed by another better fitted for the position. Faculty sectionalism should not dominate—consider each man on his own merits.

A person who fills one of the executive positions being contested today should be one who has had previous experience in executive work. These positions are the highest campus posts open to students and should be filled by men who are capable of filling them satisfactorily and able to represent the student body on public occasions.

When you vote today vote for the man—not on account of his friends, fraternity or faculty.

Bravo Engineers

Prompted by the realization that engineers will be called upon to assume social as well as technical responsibilities in the future, engineering students at McGill exhibited a considerably increased participation and interest in extra-curricular activities of a non-technical nature. The picture of the engineering student isolating himself from all branches of campus activity, is very quickly becoming a memory.

The most commendable achievement of the engineers this year has been the inter-class debates, which were climaxed yesterday afternoon by the presentation of a trophy to the victorious fourth year class by Principal Douglas. It can be truthfully said that the inter-faculty debates which were so popular this year were a direct result of the active interest displayed by engineering students in debating.

The enthusiastic reception granted the 'Engineering Daily', this year and last assures its future continuation, and results in bringing about better relations between the engineering and other campus faculties. Ventures of this sort are worthy of thoughtful consideration by other student bodies.

Engineering students were noticeable in appreciable numbers at the recent Students' Society meetings, and participated actively in the discussions. The Engineering students were active in National Conference commissions and other campus clubs and organizations. In short, no longer can the engineering student claim exemption from extra-curricular activity due to the pressure of academic studies. This year it has definitely been established that "where there's a will there's a way."

Don Quixotes

The university air is so charged with the bombast of symposia, that it is fitting to write a few words on some of the issues being discussed and about some of the parties directing and participating in them.

It is a maxim of international intercourse that those agreements and discussions are valid which are conducted by authorized or delegated persons; and we students would do well to adopt it. Week in week out, formal and informal gatherings take place where individuals speak in the name of this or that religious or racial group. In all their supposed glory some of these people criticize institutions and postulate principles, as if they were the potters and tradition and religion were their clay. There is here a radical need for deflation of ego to reasonable proportions—if not completely—and a realization that higher education is not synonymous with mandate, nor is a university training credentials for representation.

Especially have discussions taken place on religious issues, on the need for understanding and the adjustment of differences. Members of our student body, purported leaders, have taken upon themselves to speak in the name of a whole people, a whole social order, and a whole religious belief. A young man speaks in the name of Jewry when he may not have participated in its duties and obligations for a longer period than he would care to remember. Clergymen and laymen will speak for "Christianity" and "the Church"; yet much of what they say will often not be supported by the respective authorities. The result! One side is deceived by the other, and misunderstanding added to ignorance continues to do its destructive work with ever greater force; they are oblivious to the fact that many students have been brought up in tradition and belief hallowed through the ages and glorified in the history of Man, the very tradition and belief that is being laid upon by rude hands.

If his anger were not so great the writer would be moved to tears. For years this destructive babbling has continued with no sign of ever abating. Will these people, young and old, continue wearing the old blinkers and persist in their refusal to consider the past? Tradition has been dragged down to the depths of degradation and subjected to sacrilegious criticism by individuals who in the make up of history are absolute nonentities, when at the same time Jews and Christians alike down through the ages have suffered martyrdom for these very traditions and beliefs. They died for a principle; can't we then be left to live for an ideal?

Our morality and religious beliefs have within them sufficient righteousness, social justice, and respect for human rights to satisfy the most sublime Utopian. Let us apply them with increasing measure in our daily life, and have less of the "Don Quixotes."

—J. S. WASSERMAN, Law I.

Overtones

By DIAL TWISTER

To all those who aspire to carve for themselves a niche in the annals of radio broadcasting (or to get a job with some broadcasting company) the McGill broadcast of this afternoon should prove a veritable boon. We do not think that we would be presuming too much in saying that the program MIGHT be heard by some radio scout, and might prove the happy beginning of a success story for some student. Since radio talent scouts never begin their working day until about 2.00 p.m., we think that the time of the broadcast, 3.00 to 4.00, is very propitious. It may be a good idea to have some of the students walking about the Campus at just about the above-mentioned hour, pretending that they have never heard of the fact that there is such a thing as a McGill program. We might even send out one or two of our crooners, for want of a better place for them.

It has been brought to our attention that one member of a well-known Campus publication has decided to do a Walter Winchell act during the course of the broadcast. In order to get the desired results, we are informed, he has been auctioning off everything in sight for the past two weeks, just so as to get the knack of fast talking. The latest reports on the venture indicate that he is meeting with a few obstacles. He has just about reached the limit of his saleable belongings, and he has just now realized that he does not possess enough money to buy a crush hat and a fat cigar, the requisites of a real-honest-to-goodness radio reporter. Will somebody please come across? Please!

We have never advocated hasty adoption of any new-fangled contraptions; but this seems to us to be the time when the use of a television transmitter would do the Red and White Revue a world of good. Imagine the rush to the box office tonight if the McGill broadcast could secure the use of such a transmitter for relaying the pictures of its representatives to the radio audience! We've been terribly busy during the past few weeks to be able to attend many of the rehearsals of the Revue, but we did manage to see one of them. Oh, Boy! There have been Revues before this one. We have even written publicity stories for some of them. However, we can truthfully say that broadcasting the Revue by television would prove to many skeptics that this is one of the few Revues that made history. (To whom it may concern, we are not getting free tickets to see the Revue but we would appreciate them after this.)

The other day we received a letter from somebody who, apparently, reads the Daily. The correspondent has a few things to say concerning our defence of the CBC in a previous column. The gentleman suggests that the CBC adopt a purely Canadian policy with regard to its choice of artists and program. He also suggests the injection of a little "spice" into the CBC programs. In making the first suggestion, our correspondent is labouring under the delusion that we advocate American programs simply because they are American. We should like to correct that impression.

We believe that American programs should be imported to a limited extent to promote goodwill and strengthen the relations between the two countries. That is all. However, since we in Canada have not as yet developed the imposing array of talent that the U.S. broadcasters boast, we suggest that our importation go beyond the minimal limit until such time as we can become self-sufficient in this respect. As for the second suggestion, we feel that the CBC would do well to heed it and give it some serious thought. Our Canadian programs, so far have shown a surprising lack of "yumph". There have been established a few, a very few, patterns of programs, with no indication of variety anywhere in sight. Consequently, we cannot blame any listener who prefers the American programs to our own. It is our firm belief, however, that the CBC has already realized the danger implicit in a lack of "spice", and is taking steps to correct the evil.

Commerce Comments

SENIORS.

Flash-Flash-Flash! Inspectors Monk and Woodburn of the Commercial Narcotic Squad have just unearthed the latest dope on the Commerce Seniors. They issue the following warning to the '38 Gang—Watch for the announcement of the class banquet, the date to be published shortly.

The Seniors welcomed Prof. Sugars to the ranks of the pin-pushers at Karry's last Friday. This was his first time out, but showed fine form in nosing out our veteran bowler, Prof. Thompson.

The possibility of a debate in the near future with three men on a team, composed of one Registered Clerk, one Accounting Student and one Commerce Undergraduate has aroused a good deal of interest. We heartily endorse the plain, Prof. Thompson.

There is considerable controversy as to whether Pete Monk's broken hand will prove a blessing or otherwise. If he can't write, we know he'll always live up to his well-earned reputation of talking big. . . . We have it on good authority that Miner was in "pane" at the Douglas Hall formal. . . . Is Lyster going to supply the School with Burroughs calculating machines? He asked the price of each one. So did Bert Love. Tom Emory has gone gardener on us, what with iris and tulips. Don't "sigh," Top, it's all good, clean fun. . . . Dalley is going out a lot, for him. Never mind F.F. (or is it B.W.F.)?, your taste is not all in your mouth. . . . Supporters of that noted thespian, Bob Dunn, learn with pride of the part he is to take in the McGill broadcast on Thursday. Non-supporters are refusing to tune in at all. . . . All characters in the latter part of this column are purely fictitious, and any similarity to living persons is simply a coincidence. (Ed. note: Oh Yeah!)

"The President should be a man endowed with tact and savoir faire; he should be a man with vision—one who will be able to conduct the affairs of the undergraduates in the best interests of the whole student body."

President of the Women's Union.

"The duties of the President of the Women's Union are not heavy. She must conduct general meetings and preside at the monthly meetings of the Executive. She superintends the organizations of the Freshettes, represents the women students on the campus and to outside organizations. She is a member of the Student's Executive Council and as such has a vote in all matters of student government. "Naturally the Women's Union depends for its efficiency upon the executive elected each year, and most heavily upon the President. She requires patience to perform routine tasks, but she must have imagination and initiative, for the society over which she presides is still in formation and being large is unwieldy."

SECRETARY OF THE UNION.

"This position on the Union Executive calls for considerable time. He keeps the minutes of the Committee and is responsible for the correspondence. It is the place of the Secretary to keep track of the engagements of rooms, to smooth out the difficulties between conflicting clubs using the same rooms in the building, and to carry out the plans of the Committee."

"One of the most important duties of the Secretary is that of planning publicity to keep the students informed of the Union program. At certain times of the year this work becomes fairly heavy, especially during the fall when the Union holds Informals, when special meals are being served and when tournaments are being conducted.

"The man who accepts the post of secretary should be a well known person who will be in a position to cope with the lack of interest in the Union; he should be a man who will be able and willing to obtain new business in the form of class and club lunches and dinners; one who will work wholeheartedly for the welfare of the Union and the students."

VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE UNION

The Vice-President of the Union is a member of the Three-Man Committee which controls the McGill Union. His duties as laid down by the constitution of the Union, are to take the place of the

Red Cage Team Beat Nationale Squad 30-26 in Last Minute

KINGSTON STARS
He and Rutherford Backbone of Team
CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

By SMITTY.
A spectacular rally in the dying moments of the game brought McGill a hard-earned victory over Nationale and possession of the Dadds' Trophy, emblematic of the city championship. Climaxing a game filled with thrills and close play, a fighting quintette of Senior Redmen came from behind to overpower Nationale and gain a 30-26 victory in a sudden-death playoff for the Dadds' Cup last night at the Y.M.H.A. Gym. With McGill trailing by the score of 26-25 Shipley was awarded two penalty shots as Nationale tried to check a desperate Red attack. The referee had just previously announced that there was only two minutes of play left. A large audience waited in tense anticipation as Ship calmly sunk his first shot to tie up the score. He then brought the crowd to their feet as he planted his second shot squarely between the hoops. Dave Kingston then administered the finishing touch as he sank his eighth basket of the evening to leave McGill out in front. It was the sensational playing of Kingston that swung the balance in favour of Coach Van Wagner's squad and enabled them to regain the City Championship. The Grads were the former holder of the Trophy. Captain Ronnie Rutherford also turned in a stand-out game and was the smiling recipient of the Cup on behalf of the team. The award was made at half-time in the game between the McGill Grads and Y.M.H.A.

KINGSTON LEADS SCORING.
Dave Kingston played one of the best games of the year and showed good marksmanship to rifle eight baskets. Most of them were from far out and needed good judgment. His work on the defence was also excellent. He played a full 40 minutes and earned himself the worthy title of the "blond menace." It was his four successive baskets which opened the scoring and gave McGill an early lead which they still held at half-time by the score of 19-16. Nationale turned the tables temporarily early in the second period by three baskets by their star, Buster Allan. They held the lead till the eventful last few minutes when McGill made their gallant drive. Kingston opened the scoring on a nice solo play after Allan had missed four penalty shots. McGill had an edge on the play and they handled the ball smoothly and passed smartly. Kingston kept up his good work and added three more to usurp the scoring sheets. Wykes added two more points on a one-hander. Rutherford netted a penalty shot to put McGill away in front by the score of 11-0. Coach Norm Carson's Nationale stars were missing many shots but finally Allan registered their first score. Wykes got a smart basket when he knocked an intercepted pass into the hoops. Shipley missed two penalty shots but was to make amends for this later in the evening. Kingston added two more scores to his impressive total. Nationale finished strong to snare three baskets to bring the half-time score to 19-16.

NATIONALE GAINS LEAD
Two baskets by Allan gave Nationale a one-point lead. They then added two more scores to send them out in front. McGill's play had slowed up. Kingston was being covered so closely that he had no chance to shoot. The Redmen also missed some tough shots. Rutherford put McGill back in the running by getting two baskets. Keyes had a chance to cut Nationale's lead of one point but missed two penalty shots. The score was 24-23. The game had become very fast and play was close and there was no score for about five minutes. Allan increased his team's lead to three points by scoring. Kingston finally broke loose and again put McGill within a point of Nationale. With the time swiftly drawing to a close Shipley did his first scoring of the evening to put the Red team ahead, and Kingston finished off his sparkling performance with another basket.

SEASON FINISHED.
It was a great finale for Coach Van Wagner's team. Inscribe a brilliant finish to a chapter none too impressive they chalked up an important victory and upset the league-leading Nationale squad. Last night's game marked the cur-

POT SHOTS AT RANDOM

By OZ

THE end of the year is drawing nigh my friends, and activities on the campus are gradually taking their hallowed places in the back of everyone's mind with what exams to worry about. Especially the activities of the sporting world at college. And even more especially the activities along the front in the Sports Office of the Daily.

It is our guess (wrong though it may be) that until the final copy of the paper is put to bed, the sports page will contain a column or two every day in which the harassed night editor will bare his soul to the world in general. Now don't get the idea that the night editors in the sports department are just a bunch of soul-barers, but there is a little question of space to fill. (Do you ever notice those lovely poems that appear throughout the paper from time to time?)

By now you must have guessed the answer. (As if you hadn't already, naive as we are). It is that old bogey man, space. Just suppose this tripe hadn't been written last night. Can you just imagine Page 3? And can you imagine where we would end up? The last time there was a blank space in the paper, the person responsible was out on his ear before he knew it.

Now my avid pupils, don't get the idea that other columns that may appear on this page will consist of such stuff as this. All the fellows that are on the sports staff are there because they happen to like sports, take a great deal of interest in them and know how to pound out a story or a column. They happen to know what they are talking about, and can present their views in a more interesting manner than the majority of those supercilious people around the campus who don't happen to agree with the writer. (The last statement is far from supposition. We've seen too many columns taken with this attitude).

Still following our trend of trying to explain what this is all about, let us say that this is somewhat in the nature of a warning. Not a warning that you should not read any column on this page except those you have come to expect, but we are trying to warn, not tell you that at the end of the scholastic year it is a very difficult job to turn out an interesting page. Our ideas may be all our own, but we think that any sensible person will agree that a column written by someone who has followed McGill teams throughout the year, will, in all probability have some pretty sound thoughts about them.

Thus, we have accomplished our purpose (I hope) and in our own peculiar way tried to explain what is behind some of the columns that will appear on this page from time to time in the next week. (Now all we have to pray for is that the night editors don't cross us up).

GIRLS' HOCKEY

In a post-season girls' hockey game, the Physical Education girls took the measure of the R.V.C. hockey team in a challenge game yesterday to the tune of 3-1. Unfortunately for the losers they had only seven players on the ice, and were badly outnumbered.

For the winners, Betty Gould was the outstanding player on the ice, counting twice. Marg Hart made the other for the winners. Eileen Harris tallied the only R.V.C. goal on a very nice solo effort.

tain performance for several players of the Seniors.

Rutherford and Shipley bowed out in grand style, leaving behind two years' of stellar showing. Mislip also graduates this Spring, and although not spectacular in his first year in Senior company, he always played a steady game. Coach Robertson of the Grads made the presentation of the Dadds Cup to Rutherford. It was a fitting reward for a fighting performance and a happy note on which to terminate activities for the year.

The lineups and scoring were: McGill (30): Rutherford (5), Kingston (17), Wykes (4), Shipley (2), Mislip, Giannasio (2), Keyes, Nationale (26): Allan (10), Irwin (4), Concklin (2), Mace, Dubois, Griffin (4), Hutton (2), Mills (4), Whittall.

MEDICALS TAKE INTERFACULTY SWIMMING MEET

Win Four Firsts to Gather an Aggregate Score of 28 Points

ARTS IN SECOND PLACE

LITERALLY splashing their way through to victory, the Medical faculty squad topped top honors in the Interfaculty Swim Meet held last night in the Knights of Columbus Pool. Three groups competed, those being Arts and Science Combine and a Plumber's Union, besides the victorious quintette.

Sadovsky was the high scoring ace in the pool, placing first in the 100 yard freestyle, and also in the 440 yard freestyle. Rolsinouth scored a victory for the Science swimmers winning the 100 yard breaststroke. Yulle kept the Engineers boys in the race by having a free and easy victory in the diving competition. So well did he accomplish this feat, that his competition were quite willing to let him have his splash, and then to concentrate their efforts in ducking his supporters in the other heats.

The highlight of the meet was the relay race. The three teams put their best strokes to a severe test, and each individual contestant delved into the old bag of tricks, and some fine swimming was observed. The Sawbones, however, won by an arms length with Arts forcing the pace, and the Engineers driving everything before them in a belated but spirited rally.

The winning team won four first places, while the other groups divided the honors in the remaining two events.

2,689 STUDENTS IN 1938

An increase of 114 students over last year was reported by the Registrar's Office, bringing the total up to 2,689. The main increase occurred in the Faculty of Arts and Science and the Faculty of Music, while the main decrease was in the number of partial students. This is pointed out as being a step in the right direction, as more people are taking the higher courses of study. The decrease of partial students was 163, and there are now 355.

These are a few interesting facts and statistics. There are 2,223 men to 1,087 women students; in Arts, however, there is a majority of 113 females. There are 2,989 British students, 351 Americans and 377 foreigners, of whom Cuba and Guatemala have four each. Next to Arts and Science are the faculties of Medicine, Engineering, Household Science, Graduate Studies, Agriculture and Dentistry, in the number of registrations. This ranking is exactly the same as that of last year.

It was mistakenly reported a short while ago that there was a decrease in the number of students. As stated above, the decrease in partial students, which was somehow taken as the standard of attendance, was completely offset by the increase in the Arts and Science Faculty.

CABIN and TRAIL

By mub

THIS department has been lapsing of late; however, it has been just as well. In fact, it is likely better than that. There has been so much opportunity for real skiing that it would have been a shame to just talk about it. Ski conditions have been ideal. They still are (knock wood), and plenty of folk are turning it to advantage. The year is about up for us, though, so a parting shot may not be objected to too strenuously.

Nothing much has happened in competitive skiing in the last two weeks except that McGill annexed four Dominion ski titles and placed men very high in the Quebec Kandahar competition. Outside of stamping itself as the best university ski club in the Dominion, McGill has done little.

The feats of Bob Johannsen, Jim Houghton and Doug Mann, hailed in the local press as McGill's phenomenal freshman (however, we won't rub it in, Doug), are well known. A brief summary: Johannsen won Dominion Open Downhill Title; Dominion Closed Combined Jumping and Cross-country; Dominion Closed Combined Downhill and Slalom. Jim Houghton wound up his collegiate competition days by winning the Dominion Closed Slalom Title. Doug Mann last weekend won the famed Kandahar Slalom on Mont Tremblant and placed third in the combined standing. Bob Johannsen, was fractionally behind Cochand in the downhill race, finished third in the slalom and thus second in the combined. There had been a 10-second error in Johannsen's slalom time, hence press reports placed him lower in standing. That was a mistake. Fred Moore did well in the downhill, but had some tough luck in the slalom. However, he was fourth in the combined. Jim Houghton was just ahead of Moore in the slalom.

The really brilliant event of the week-end went unheralded in these columns. The City Open Jumping Championships took place on Saturday on the Cote des Neiges Hill. Soaring to a hard-earned victory, Hank Findlay won the title over such stiff competition as Punch Bott, former Dominion jumping champion, and Jimmy Riddell, Dominion champion crowned last week.

Hank has been a top-flight jumper for years now and a member of McGill's first team. He has long been threatening to dominate the field, but has just fallen short of it time and again. He didn't miss on Saturday and likely won't for many meets to come.

While we are considering triumphs and the like, there is one skier at McGill who hasn't been heard of for several weeks—that is in the skiing line. Chris Mamen, one of McGill's most outstanding stars, broke his wrist in the U.S. jumping championships the same week-end as the Middlebury meet. That put him out of competition for the balance of the season. However, he certainly hasn't been forgotten—he would have been a keen contender for some of those Dominion titles.

It is not a general policy in writing this department to hand out bouquets, but when the old Red and White is flying high there is no need for undue modesty.

Therefore we must mention the fact that oodles of McGill skiers were in the Kandahar meet who didn't end up on top but who did exceptionally well for the stage of competitive development they are at. Honours go to Gray Miller, who placed sixteenth among Class A skiers, and then to Jack Bovard, George Archambault, Don Tirrell and many other coming speed skiers.

to the period she spent in a convent as one of the greatest of Mexican poets.

Born in San Miguel de Nepantla, Mexico, in the year 1651, Sor Juana spent the greater part of her youth there mainly in study. By the age of ten she had mastered Latin and at sixteen was ready to enter the University. She commenced her religious life in 1667 at the Convent of Santa Teresita Antigua but owing to the strict rules was forced to transfer to a less strict order in Convento de San Peronimo, where she died in 1695.

Cedric Granda, last year's president, thanked the speaker. The executive announced that the Annual Banquet of the Club would be held on Monday, March 21, in the Grill Room.

CLASS OF '38

RONNIE RUTHERFORD

THE captain of this year's Senior Basketball team who has shone at either a guard or forward position for the past three years. Born in British Columbia, he came East to McGill to take up the study of Electrical Engineering, which he has done so successfully that he has been honoured with a membership in Phi Epsilon Alpha, the honorary Engineering fraternity.

From the time that Ronnie has been enrolled in McGill he has played basketball. In 1923, he played with the Intermediates and then jumped up to the Seniors the following year, where he has proven himself one of the most reliable players on the team. This year he received his reward for his steady and spirited play when he was elected captain of the team.

In the first two years of Rutherford's career with the Red cage team he starred at a forward position. However, to insure the team of a capable and steady defence,

Coach Van Wagner moved him to guard, where he has played equally as well.

In addition to his basketball activities, Ronnie is usually an ardent spectator at most of the football and hockey games. That is when it is a home game when the band is present. Since he got established here at college, Ronnie has been one of the mainstays of the band.

After Convocation, Ronnie will probably go to work with one of the bigger power companies in the country and pursue his ambition to rise high in the esteem of men and continue with his hobby of dance music. We wish him the best of luck in these several ventures and are sure that he will succeed.
